

Customer Keynote

Steve Loye

Vice President/General Manager

Goodrich Sensors and Integrated Systems

A 27 year veteran of the Aerospace industry Steve has worked in engineering, operations, business development and CI. Currently, he has responsibility for two businesses in Southern California. He was born and educated in the UK gaining a Bachelor of Engineering with honors from Liverpool University. He has worked in many countries including the UK, France and Indonesia and has been based in the USA since 1999. He is currently studying for a Masters degree in Program Management from Penn State.